I. PURPOSE & SCOPE

UCLA is committed to providing a safe work environment for faculty, staff, students, and visitors – one that is free from Violent Behavior and Threats of harm. UCLA prohibits Violent Behavior and Threats of harm affecting the workplace and such behavior violates both law and University policy.

This Policy defines the scope of Workplace Violence, identifies unacceptable behavior that will be treated as a violation of this Policy, and establishes the process to report these behaviors.

This Policy applies to all members of the University community, including faculty and other academic personnel, staff, students, volunteers, contractors, and visitors.

II. DEFINITIONS

For the purposes of this Policy:

Workplace Violence includes a spectrum of behaviors that generates a reasonable concern for safety from violence, where a link exists between the behavior and the physical safety of employees and others (such as volunteers, contractors, and visitors), whether the behavior occurs on- or off-campus.

Workplace Violence behavior includes:

Disruptive Behavior is conduct that prevents normal campus activities or workplace functions, and may act as “warning signs” to possible violence, this includes but not limited to, verbal outbursts, excessive displays of anger, vandalizing University property, or any behavior that instills reasonable fear or generates sufficient evidence for concern that a person might act out violently.

Domestic Violence is abusive or Violent Behavior between individuals who have an ongoing or a prior intimate or family relationship that poses a threat to the workplace, this includes dating violence.

Stalking is behavior in which a person repeatedly engages in a course of conduct directed at another specific person, who places that person in reasonable fear of his or her safety or the safety of others, this includes, the use of technology to commit this behavior.

Threat is any physical, written, or verbal conduct, whether direct, indirect or conditional, that conveys the intent or is reasonably perceived to convey the intent to cause physical harm or to place someone in fear of his or her safety or the safety of others.
Violent Behavior involves physically aggressive acts against a person or a physical action intended to damage property.

III. POLICY STATEMENT

UCLA maintains zero tolerance for Workplace Violence. The University will respond promptly to all reports of Workplace Violence, and will take appropriate action to prevent, correct, and if necessary, discipline behavior that violates this Policy. Faculty, staff, student, volunteer or visitor found to commit or threaten acts of Workplace Violence is in violation of this Policy and will be subject to disciplinary actions under University policies or as applicable, collective bargaining agreements, and may be subject to criminal prosecution.

Any member of the UCLA community who is subjected to, witnesses, or has knowledge of Workplace Violence or actions that could be perceived as violent or threatening, or has reason to believe that such actions may occur, are strongly encouraged to immediately report such actions to the appropriate authorities as outlined in this Policy.

It is prohibited for any person to bring or possess a loaded or unloaded firearm or other weapon on UCLA campus or off-campus property, owned or operated by the University; any area adjacent to such property; or to an official activity of or program conducted by the University, unless such use or possession is with the written permission of the UCLA Police Chief, see UCLA Policy 131, Weapons on Campus. All criminal conduct must be reported immediately to the UCLA Police Department.

Retaliation

This Policy prohibits retaliation against any person who reports Workplace Violence in good faith, assists someone with a report of Workplace Violence, or participates in any manner in an investigation or resolution of a Workplace Violence report. The University’s Whistleblower Protection Policy, including provisions regarding retaliation may apply in this context.

The University will defend and indemnify University employees, acting within the scope of their employment, in any civil action arising from a good faith report of Workplace Violence required or encouraged under this Policy.

Temporary Restraining Order (TRO) or Injunction

A University community member who has suffered unlawful violence (i.e., assault, battery, or stalking as prohibited in California Penal Code 646.9) or a credible threat of violence reasonably likely to be carried out in the workplace (See California Civil Procedure Code 527.8) and is seeking to obtain or has obtained a TRO or injunction shall notify UCPD.

If you need information about obtaining a Workplace Violence TRO or injunction, call UCPD and/or the UCLA Behavioral Intervention Team (BIT) Coordinator at (310) 794-0422. For members of UCLA Health, contact your human resources representative.

UCLA understands the sensitivity of this information and will treat it with appropriate discretion and confidentiality.
